M: How about posting pictures on social media to advertise them?

W: Advertising? I think newspapers are better than social media.

W: Well, can social media advertising improve our sales?

M: Absolutely, we can attract more young customers.

W: All right. But, I don't think we can afford to spend a lot on advertising. You know, we are small business owners.

For example, whole grains, like brown rice, allow blood to flow to the brain better. They contain nutrients including vitamin B and vitamin E. When these work together, brain cells are better preserved. Second, blueberries help protect the brain from stress and delay brain aging by 2.5 years. A study on rats found that diets rich in blueberries dramatically improve the learning ability of aging rats. Third, spinach has substances that could slow down memory loss. A study found that eating a lot of this leafy vegetable is associated with reduced memory loss. Furthermore, nuts are terrific sources of vitamin E, which can help prevent the mental processes like knowing and understanding from decreasing as you age.
